

ON-BOARDING TOOLKIT

Guidance for the Hiring Manager

Dear Manager,

Congratulations on the successful hire of your new employee. We understand that this is a new beginning for both of you and the possibilities are endless! The success of your new employee begins with a suitable on-boarding experience. Human Capital Institute research shows that providing on-boarding throughout an employee's first 120 days greatly increases employee productivity and retention.

Although you may have already completed a number of orientation activities, we would like to provide you with a few more ideas and tools to help you welcome, orient, and retain your new employee.

Johns Hopkins University
Department of Human Resources

What is On-boarding?

- A support process designed to manage a variety of tasks and requirements initiated once a new hire has accepted a position.
- A supplement to the existing orientation process that is designed to provide specific and customized information about the university culture and tools to help the new employee navigate and be successful at Hopkins.
- A way to get your newly hired talent up to speed with the policies, processes, culture, expectations, and day to day responsibilities of your department/unit.
- A way of making newcomers to the environment feel welcomed and excited, confirming for them the reasons they joined your department/unit and the Johns Hopkins University, especially in the early days of the transition and at the onset of new challenges.

Johns Hopkins University Core Values

University leadership has identified five core competencies that are crucial to every position within the university, to ensure that all employees can effectively work together to develop innovative solutions to current and future challenges. The Core Values are:

Equity Civility and Respect
Managing Change
Innovation and Problem Solving
Mission and Service Excellence
Relationships and Teaming

 This toolkit is intended to be an additional resource to your department or division's existing orientation materials. If your department or division already has a checklist or program, it is encouraged that you use the existing resource, and utilize this toolkit as an additional resource.*

Contents

SETTING THE STAGE	5
This checklist provides some ideas and suggestions for you to begin building a strong connection with your newcomer even before he or she walks through the door on their first day of work.
OVERVIEW CHECKLIST FOR NEW EMPLOYEES	8
This checklist outlines the initial information each newcomer should receive. Having both you and your new employee sign the checklist ensures that necessary information has been shared.
BUDDY'S CHECKLIST	9
Having a buddy provides the new employee with a "safe" person to go to with any additional questions that he or she may have.
MANAGER'S ON-BOARDING TO-DO LIST	10
While delegating some things to your new employee's colleague works, there are some things that you should do yourself over the course of the employee's first 90 days.
SAMPLE NEW EMPLOYEE CHECK-IN MEETING QUESTIONS	12
It's strongly recommended that you meet regularly with your new employee during the first months, allowing time for questions, information sessions, and training.
NEW EMPLOYEE SUCCESS PROFILE	14
Success for newcomers is sometimes hard to gauge, especially from their perspective. Having a conversation about what success looks like helps your new employee set goals and priorities and can help identify what on-the-job training, coaching, or mentoring may be needed.
RECOGNITION PROFILE	16
This tool allows you to gain information from your new employee so that you can ensure that any recognition given is on target- meaningful, comfortable, and personal for the new employee.
ON-BOARDING REMINDERS	17
This is the "don't do" list. The list reinforces what on-boarding is all about- it provides a playful way to remind you of your role in the on-boarding process.
RESOURCES	18
Additional resources are available here.

The following tool bar appears at the top of various sections in this kit. It shows when to use a specific section-- prior to the new employee's arrival, during the first 30, 60 or 120 days, and beyond the 120-day period.

- Accepting the offer to join your organization was likely a big decision for your new employee. Once an employee accepts a position, the days or weeks up to that first day are critical in building a positive impression and relationship. The ideas below will help ensure that the connection you build with your new employee is strong from the start.
- After all necessary clearances are completed, you may want to send you new employee an e-mail welcoming them to the department and providing them any information they will need on their first day based on your department and HR divisional practices.
- Obtain a JHED ID for your new hire through your IT administrator.
You can use the following link to get started
<http://www.it.johnshopkins.edu/gettingstarted.html>
- Meet with department/unit HR or payroll coordinator to ensure you know what paperwork a new hire needs to complete, using the Internal Service Request (ISR) process
- Select one of your new hire's colleagues to be a "buddy" for the first few months on the job (see the buddy checklist in this toolkit). Send the new hire the name and contact information of the buddy so that they can be in touch.
- Set up appointments with individuals that your new hire should meet early on (colleagues within your organization and individuals that they will interact and work with).
- Set aside time in your calendar to make sure you're available for the first few days and weeks of your new hire's tenure.

- Set up new hire's work stations, including her desk and/or office, computer, etc. First impressions count, so providing new hires with a clean desk in a cubicle or office that is in "move-in" condition will be a positive step in this new relationship that will make the individual feel valued and welcomed (see buddy checklist in this toolkit.)
- Set up new hire's work stations, including her desk and/or office, computer, etc. First impressions count, so providing new hires with a clean desk in a cubicle or office that is in "move-in" condition will be a positive step in this new relationship that will make the individual feel valued and welcomed (see buddy checklist in this toolkit.)
- You may want to include a sign on the new hire's door or workstation welcoming him to the team, or have flowers or a plant to make the workstation more inviting.
- Set up phone(s): Determine if your new hire will need a new phone, or have an existing one reconfigured. Also be sure that her new voice mailbox is set up on the employee's first work day.
- Have building keys or other access methods ready.
- Have mailboxes marked (if applicable)
- Make sure necessary supplies are available: Plan ahead to insure that new hires have all the required office supplies on their first day, including pens, paper, post-its, message pads, office keys, etc.
- Order business cards if necessary/possible. Publication Services has provided a list of preferred printers
- Make sure new staff hires are added to appropriate email lists and calendaring systems.

- Create a first-week schedule for new hires so that they have something to do that is meaningful and helps her hit the ground running. The schedule should include a balance of time with others, down time, and time on their own to read orientation materials or complete other orientation-related tasks. Consider some or all of the following:
 - Hold 1:1 or small group meeting with other team members. During these meetings, team members might describe their work and how it integrates with the work the new team member does.
 - Have a 1:1 meeting with you to discuss job description, performance expectations, appropriate attire, time and leave, etc.
 - Designate times for the new hire to review the online NEO (New Employee Orientation) and online Benefits Orientation.
 - Schedule meetings with other key colleagues.
 - Give them time alone at their workstation so they can digest all the new information and make notes about what they've learned in meetings.
 - Tour of campus or larger work environment.

(Optional)*

NEW EMPLOYEE DAYS	< 0	0- 30	30- 60	60-120	120+
-------------------	-----	-------	--------	--------	------

BEFORE NEW TEAM MEMBER STARTS

- Work space clean, including computer, phone, trash can, etc. has been set up.
- E-mail address is set up (through IT).
- Set up mailbox- if one exists.
- Get copy of departmental handbook (if applicable).
- Arrange for any welcoming items or events (door sign, welcome reception, etc.).

WEEK ONE

- Meet and greet on day one
- Walk around and tour areas of the facility
- Show work space/desk
- Assist new employee with any questions he or she may have
- Introduce new employee at meetings, breaks, lunch, etc.
- Assist the new hire with understanding of acronyms typically used in your department. You may be surprised how foreign Hopkins speak can sound to a new hire

DURING THE REMAINDER OF THE 1ST MONTH

- Have informal check-ins with new staff member to see "how it's going" for them
- Review what has already been covered in the above checklist if necessary

AT THE END OF THE 1ST MONTH

- Buddy relationship may continue informally as desired or needed

- Arrange for any welcoming items or events (door sign, welcome reception, etc.).

WEEK ONE

- Meet and greet on day one.
- Show work space/desk and walk around and tour areas of the facility.
- Introduce new employee to myJohnsHopkins and myLearning Catalog.
- Introduce new employee at meetings, breaks, lunch, etc.
- Review Hopkins communications:
 - Hub At Work
 - Johns Hopkins Magazine
 - JHU Gazette
 - University Announcements
 - University Calendars
 - Administrative Bulletin (If you have an SAP role)
 - Faculty, Management and Staff Development catalog
 - Team/department/unit meetings
 - Other regularly scheduled meetings
- Explain regular hours, break times for staff.
- Show how to log-in and check e-mail.
- Show how to use phones and check voicemail.

DURING THE REMAINDER OF THE 1ST MONTH

- Schedule a 15-minute meeting once a week with new staff member to check in on “how it’s going” (if time permits).
- Review what has already been covered in the above checklist

DURING THE FIRST 31 TO 120 DAYS

- Ensure that you have arranged for proper training for your new employee. Much of the training that is needed will more than likely be conducted by you or an employee in your department.
- Talent Management and Organization Development (TMOD) provides a comprehensive course listing to help individuals become effective managers, supervisors and team members. You can also find a course catalog at myLearning. Some departmental training topics include:
 - SAP training
 - Compliance, Policies and Procedures
 - Information Technology
 - Integrated Student Information System (ISIS)
 - Laboratory Excellence
 - Professional Coding for Medical Specialties
 - Management and Supervisory Training
 - Leadership Development

- Explore SkillSoft online learning options (through myLearning)
- Continue meeting with your team member on a regular basis. The first week for a new employee is often full of meetings, information gathering and tours. However, your new hire will probably still feel “new” for some time, so it’s important that you keep a line of communication open with him or her and continue to structure some time for questions, information sessions, and training.
- There are sample questions to ask your new team member at the 120-Day introductory meeting (see New Employee Check-In Meeting Questions on the next page).

DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS TO ONE YEAR

- Regularly meet with new employees to set goals, review performance, and give feedback. Also, ask for feedback about how things are going and if they're getting the support they need from you and others.
- Ask new employee if there are learning and professional development opportunities that seem interesting to them. Discuss which ones are appropriate and show them how to enroll
- Conduct evaluation period/introductory period formal review (* at 120 Days)
- Encourage your new team member to get involved with the community. They could do this by talking to colleagues about campus groups, publications and other professional activities and resources that are available.

On-boarding Reminders

NEW EMPLOYEE DAYS	< 0	0- 30	30- 60	60-120	120+

You want your new hire to be excited about his/her new job. Here are some things to keep in mind as you bring your new hire on to your team.

Be sure that you don't:

1. Forget to create or assign a work space for your new employee.
2. Schedule the new employee to start work while her supervisor is on vacation.
3. Leave the new employees standing in the company reception area for a half hour while reception staff tries to figure out what to do with them.
4. Leave the new employee at her work station, to manage on her own, while coworkers pair up and head out to lunch.
5. Leave the new employee in the lobby to read and sign-off on a 100 page Employee Handbook.
6. Show the new employee his office without introducing him or her to coworkers or assigning a mentor.
7. Assign the new employee to a mentor who has a major, career-impacting deadline, in three days.
8. Assign the new employee to a Buddy who is also your most unhappy, negative, team-bashing staff member.
9. Assign the employee "busy work" that has nothing to do with his or her core job description, because you are having a busy week.
10. Leave the employee to find their own way without help or support from you
